

SCRIPT FOR INTRODUCING A STUDENTS FIGHT BACK SPEAKER:

For over 20 years, Students Fight Back has been empowering millions of people of all genders in colleges and other organizations across the country to be their own best protectors in combating violence and living a confident life! Today you will be learning the valuable violence prevention tools that have been talked about on the Dateline NBC, the Nike Trained Podcast, Women's Health Magazine, CBS Early Show and CNN as well as in The New York Times, and Runners World.

Today our speaker is Nicole Snell. She is the CEO of Girls Fight Back, founder of Outdoor Defense & is an international speaker, TEDx Speaker, and self-defense expert. She is a Certified Victim Advocate and has studied interpersonal violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking situations, predatory behavior, and campus security. She also has extensive training in full-contact physical self-defense including ground fighting, rear attacks, and weapons defense.

In other words, this girl can kick some ass!

There are representatives from _____ here who are victim advocates and available to speak with anyone during or after the program if you need.

Please silence your phones, but feel free to join the conversation on Instagram, Facebook, & TikTok at the Students Fight Back hashtag #badassbasics.

Let's give a warm welcome to Nicole!
